CIPD

Course Description

NCI is the country's largest provider of CIPD graduates. This highly regarded and popular CIPD Certificate in HRM has been revised and upgraded. This course gives you the option of completing a certificate programme to become CIPD qualified and achieve CIPD Associate Membership.

It leads directly into the Diploma in HRM (two additional modules) which then comprises the first stage of NCI's new part-time BA (Honours) in Human Resource Management Strategy and Practice, meaning you have a direct progression path to the later stages of our HR degree.

The course takes place over one academic year and is delivered by lecturers with extensive, practical experience in human resource management. Some innovative assessment methods make the course very realistic, such as the investigation into suspected employee theft, the negotiation between management and trade unions or the conducting of an interview.

Who is the course for?

This part-time HR course is ideal for managers wanting a better knowledge of people management, those working in HR or wishing to develop a HR career.

The wide range of participants will be a vital part of your learning experience. The course is ideal for those who want to achieve Associate CIPD membership.

Award

Graduates will receive a CIPD Certificate in Human Resource Management. The course leads to CIPD qualification and Associate Membership of the Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development (CIPD).

A separate membership fee (currently stg£140, but subject to revision) must be paid directly to CIPD at the start of the course. CIPD qualifications and membership are often required by employers seeking to hire HR staff.

Entry Requirements

This course is designed to appeal to those working in human resources, managing large teams of people or seeking to make a career change into HR. There are no specific academic requirements with applicants considered based on relevant work and other experience.
